

Last Thursday, April 26, Hope number of Congress reported that exhaustion of federal aid may prohibit construction of the new Hampstead county hospital which is authorized in the November general election.

But there has been a later development—with an ominous slant.

The Arkansas Recorder, a privately-owned digest of state government news, published at Little Rock by John P. Wells, says in its issue of Friday, April 27, that the state administration has ditched eight community hospital projects in order to bolster its own plans for a Medical Center in Little Rock.

There is no question about the shortage of federal aid for hospitals, and Hope Chapter of Congress made it plain that Hampstead county's project must depend on a new appropriation by Congress. But the Arkansas Recorder's report, issued some time after the local committee visited the capital city, indicates that the state government is planning to latch on to all such additional funds for the Medical Center.

I do not guarantee that the Arkansas Recorder is without political bias, but its material promises to be a transcript of the state government's records, and our people are entitled to read the facts as given and judge for themselves. Here is the part of the Arkansas Recorder report that deals with the Hope and Prescott hospitals:

"At the request of the governor the state board of health this week voted to hold up further consideration of eight community hospital projects in seven counties so that all further federal aid under the Hill-Burton Act may be reserved for the state Medical Center.

"The communities whose hospital plans involving federal aid to 60-75 per cent of costs have been put aside, at least for the present, by the board of health in order to clear the way for the as yet unfilled Medical Center application are:

"Prescott, Clarksville, Hope, Conway, Ozark, Osceola, Blytheville and Gordon. Most of these are known to have sanctioned bond issues to provide their contribution to the construction cost. All are in a position to assure adequate financial support for federal aid applications.

"No federal money is available either for them or for the Medical Center at this time, but the health board's decision to peg future allocations for the Center will affect subsequent aid, subject, of course, to federal approval."

That's what the Arkansas Recorder says.

As far as The Star is concerned, we went on record in the Hampstead county hospital campaign as preferring a 100 per cent locally-financed project—and with federal aid out of the picture for the present and the state government resolved to shut us off in the future until it gets the Little Rock Medical Center built, our best bet may be to forget outside help and go ahead alone.

And the same advice holds good for Nevada county, whose Prescott project is in the same leaky boat with Hope's.

Whether the original election authorization will be valid without any federal participation whatsoever, is a legal question I don't know the answer for. But if we have to hold another election this newspaper will again support the hospital project, and I believe the people will again approve it. Several counties in southwest Arkansas build hospitals without federal aid—including Howard and LaFayette, which have less population and wealth than Hampstead.

Hope Couple Seriously Hurt in Auto Wreck

Mr. and Mrs. Charles S. Walker of Hope were seriously injured about 7:30 Saturday night when the automobile in which they were riding collided with another 4 miles out of Hope on Highway No. 4.

Mrs. Walker sustained a severe head injury, her tongue was badly cut and body and facial lacerations. Mr. Walker suffered a broken knee cap, a fractured collar bone and lacerations.

The driver of the second car, Winston Booth, negro, was charged with drunk driving and driving without a license, following the accident. He suffered cuts and bruises.

Two others in the negro car, Sam Smith was charged with drunkenness, and a third negro, Roosevelt Ross, suffered a fractured knee. All are from Hempstead county.

Investigating officers, Milton Mosier and Guy Downing, said Booth was driving without lights and on the wrong side of road at the time of the accident. A witness indicated that Mr. Walker tried to dodge the negro car but failed, of course.

Both vehicles were badly damaged.

Congress Gets $60 Billion Budget

Washington, April 30 — (AP) — President Truman today sent Congress a $60,679,414,690 defense budget and said Russia's rulers have pushed the world "to the brink of a general war."

The huge requested appropriation is for the United States own military costs and to help arms its Allies.

The message broke down in more detail the military estimates included in Mr. Truman's general budget, sent to Congress in January, for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

In a letter to House Speaker Rayburn, accompanying today's estimates, Mr. Truman said:

"If the Soviet union chooses to unleash a general war, the free world must be in a position to stop the attack and strike back decisively and at once at the seat of Soviet power."

"We believe that the best path to peace is through building combined defenses for the free world sufficiently powerful to insure disaster for the aggressors if they launch a new world war."

The overall figure was broken down into these sub-totals:

$1,424,839,700 to pay for various projects Congress already has authorized.

$56,179,414,000 of "new obligations authority" — meaning for direct expenditures and for letting of contracts for future payment.

$5,500,000,000 to cover needs "for a large military public works program to be recommended soon for authorization."

Mr. Truman noted that the amount of actual spending proposed for the next 13 months was not changed much from his January estimate. Actual spending from the treasury may lag far behind appropriations because it takes several years to fill some military contracts.

Mr. Truman said:

"The revised estimate of expenditures for 1951 the fiscal year ending next June 30 is 184 billion dollars, compared to 20 billion carried in the January budget. For fiscal year 1952, expenditures are estimated at 30.5 billion dollars compared to 40 billion carried in the January budget."

The $60,679,414,690 asked compares with the $47,500,000,000 which has been enacted or recommended for the current fiscal year. It is a thing thing broadly the plane and use of them here Mr. Truman said:

"For the army, these funds will equip and maintain 11 divisions plus separate combat and supporting units. The navy, under these recommendations, will maintain an active fleet of 1,161 ships. The marine corps will maintain 2-12 divisions and their supporting units. The air force will continue to build toward 95 war wings."

Of the new funds, he said, about $34,700,000,000 will be used to buy heavy equipment such as ships, planes, tanks, artillery, trucks, ammunition, guided missiles, and electronics. A total of 14.5 billion will be used to buy planes.

The President asserted:

"The funds I am today recommending will carry forward the rapid buildup in military strength upon which our nation embarked when the aggression in Korea showed that the Soviet rulers were willing to push the world to the brink of a general war to get what they want."

"We are building our military strength in the way best calculated to meet the military threat that confronts us."

The war element in this threat is the military strength and military production of the Soviet union. The armed forces of the Soviet Union today far exceed any reasonable defense requirements. Its economy is harnessed to destruction."

Could Happen to Anyone, Vogeler Says

Vienna, April 30 — (AP) — Roxbe A. Vogeler began packing today for the last leg of his homeward journey from a Hungarian prison — a trip to the United States.

sufficiently recovered from the long solitary confinement which has left him so nervous that he can hardly talk five minutes without cracking.

"Plans have not been definitely complete, but he will certainly go some time this week," said Col. Grant Williams, representative in Austria for the International Telephone and Telegraph company, of which Vogeler is a vice president.

Vogeler mustered his shattered strength to deliver what he called "a message" to the American people yesterday before a television camera and microphone. He broke down once but insisted on continuing.

"I am convinced," he said, "that my incident arrest by Hungarian Communists as a spy and saboteur is just one of a series of planned attacks on democracy."

"The American people must be made aware of what can happen. I feel that every individual American should realize that what happened to me can happen to them if we don't all band together to destroy these enemies of individual freedom."

NBC announced that Vogeler's statement probably would be telecast in the United States tonight or tomorrow.

Although Vogeler presented a good appearance physically, the mental strain of 14 and a half months in solitary confinement since his trial showed plainly.

He gave the appearance of man with a haunting memory and a secret he wished to tell but could not.

Vogeler told newsmen shortly after his release Saturday that both physical and mental pressure were used to obtain his confession before he was tried by a peoples' court in Budapest. He acknowledged that there was "some truth" in his testimony but said it contained many technical inaccuracies.

Hoover Would Liquidate RFC Lending

Washington, April 30 — (AP) — Former President Herbert Hoover said today the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC) should be liquidated, largely because its original purpose has become "submerged in support of risky business."

He said "favoritism and corruption" have been demonstrated in its operation.

Hoover, who recently urged that the RFC be abolished, was to appear before the senate banking committee to tell the reasons behind his view.

In a statement prepared for the committee, he said:

"I believe that the RFC should be liquidated. x x x

"I believe some facilities for loans in the small business field should be continued under other organizations."

Small business loans, the former president said, should be taken over by the federal reserve banks.

Hoover is one of a number of witnesses called by the committee, which is trying to decide what to do about the RFC.

The RFC was created by Congress on Jan. 22, 1932, during Hoover's administration, "to provide emergency financing facilities for financial institutions, to aid in financing agriculture, commerce and industry."

Requirements governing RFC's operations have been relaxed since that time, the former president's statement pointed out.

"As a result," he said, "the institution now undertakes to finance, by so-called loans, almost anything, domestic and sometimes even foreign, on most any terms it pleases."

"In my view, when it enters the non-emergency area of loans in excess of $100,000 its social and economic purpose becomes submerged in support of risky business, and in bailing out creditors on a large scale."

"It would appear from the public hearings that the operation of the RFC for the past four years really shows a great loss. I see no reason why the taxpayers' money should be used to subsidize larger peace-time business."

"This area of loans in excess of $100,000 is where the great dangers to the nation have occurred. That loans of this character have led to favoritism and corruption has been demonstrated by the exposures of the Fulbright committee. Corruption in government is far wider in effect than corruption in private business."

Hoover said:

"I suggest their authority be extended to a 100 per cent guarantee where necessary of 'small business' loans and to administer them. The reserve banks should be indemnified by the government against losses. A small organization should be set up in the treasury department to guide this purpose. But such loans should be restricted: a) they should not exceed $100,000; b) they must be the sound banking and currency committee recommended two years ago be made only where public interest is concerned and not solely in the interest of the borrower."

10 Persons Die As Runaway Bus Hits Wall

Weirton, W. V., April 30 — (AP) — A runaway bus pitched down a mile-long hill yesterday and crashed into a concrete wall, taking the lives of ten persons.

Just before the horrifying smash-up, the driver George Krantz, 35, cried to his church-bound passengers:

"Hang on everybody! We're going to crash!"

Those were his last words. He was dead when pulled from the twisted wreckage of the bus.

Some of the nine passengers were killed outright. Others died a short time afterward. Of the 65 persons aboard, 46 were injured. At least three, including a child, were reported in critical condition.

Police said there were no eye-witnesses and no indication of how fast the bus was running but one of the uninjured passengers, 14-year-old George Studna said:

"We must have been going 60 before we hit the wall."

Patrolman Frank Tietch said the bus was proceeding normally near the top of the hill when it suddenly picked up speed. Krantz was unable to stop on the windy hill — so steep that most auto ascend in second gear.

"We don't know yet why the driver could not stop," Tietch continued.

The bus ran about three-quarters of a mile before it came to the bottom of the hill. Tietch said Krantz knew he could not negotiate a sharp left hand turn. He chose to swing to the right and drive onto a residential street.

Just as he turned, the left front end of the bus smashed into the retaining wall.

New Order Will Shave Meat Prices

Washington, April 30 — (AP) — The government has issued a new four-bladed order designed to trim by Oct. 1 — almost a dime a pound off the butcher shop price of beef.

The order begins working next month to clamp ceilings on the price of live cattle, and wholesale and retail prices of beef. This won't affect the consumer then.

But the announcement of the order, issued Saturday night, said retail prices will be cut from four to five cents a pound on Aug. 1, and again by the same amount on Oct. 1.

The office of price stabilization (OPS) estimated the new regulations will save the American public about $700,000,000 a year.

Here are the four ticks the price cleaver is due to deliver:

1. A .10 per cent in prices which slaughtermen may pay the farmer for cattle. This goes into effect for accounting periods beginning on or after May 20.
2. Dollar and cents ceilings are fixed for wholesalers and retailers. Wholesale ceilings go into effect May 9; retail ceilings May 14. Butcher shops must post retail ceilings vary by areas.
3. Cattle prices to slaughterers are to be reduced in additional four and one-half per cent on Aug. 1, and by the same amount on Oct. 1.
4. On the same dates, retail beef price reductions of from four to five cents a pound will go into effect for a total roll back of about nine cents a pound.

OPS Director Michael V. Disalle said in a speech Saturday at Bridgeport, Conn., that immediate retail price reductions until wholesalers and retailers are released from a squeeze between their present frozen price levels and uncontrolled livestock prices.

Senate Crime Report May Be Sensational

Washington, April 30 — (AP) — The possibly sensational accusations are piling up in advance of the scheduled release tomorrow of the senate crime committee's report on its nationwide investigation of racketeering.

Senator Tobey (R-NH) said yesterday he expects "several prominent men in New York" to be indicted as a result of the committee's revelations. "I hope and pray so, for they're guilty as hell," he added.

And the committee's chief counsel, Rudolph Halley, indicated the report may carry some sharp criticism of former New York Mayor William O'Dwyer.

Tobey and other committee members appeared on a television program (NBC) which also produced the news that a printer's proof of the forthcoming report has been stolen.

This disclosure, by Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn), brought a bitter retort from Robert S. Allen, Washington newspaper correspondent. Allen, author of a series of stories based on the committee report, said he told Kefauver with a mad but statement "is a liar."

That of the crime report "unsolicited and from a legitimate committee source."

Kefauver told Allen, the latter said, that he had no intention of charging him with theft and apologized for the remark. Allen said he and the committee chairman parted friends.

Halley, appearing on a separate television program, denied published reports that the committee's findings have been "toned down" insofar as they concern O'Dwyer.

O'Dwyer, who testified before the investigators during their televised New York hearings, now is ambassador to Mexico. He has denied any improper conduct in running New York affairs.

Halley said if the committee had expressed an opposite opinion in its report, "it certainly isn't coming out" of the report.

Halley declined to say specifically what the report will say. But he said the committee's report of published charges that O'Dwyer failed to prosecute major criminals in New York City, the committee lawyer said:

"I think that is a factually correct statement."

Tobey did not name any of the New Yorkers he expects to be indicted.

He said more than a dozen witnesses who have appeared before the committee face trial on contempt charges "which may lead to further imprisonment," and he added:

"Before the grand jury gets through in New York, I think evidence will be brought there, to cause a good bill of guilt for several prominent men in New York."

Tobey said the committee's report will include recommendations, which will "put a crimp in particularly on income tax legislation the style of a good many criminals across the country."

New Premier of Iran Is Anti-British

Tehran, Iran, April 30 — (AP) — Anti-British Nationalists today stood only a few hours away from formal action giving them control of Iran's government and authorization for immediate nationalization of the country's strategic oil industry.

Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlavi reluctantly approved appointment to the premiership of F. Mohammad Mossadeq, aging leader of the minority national bloc which has headed the nationalization drive. The Shah was scheduled to issue a decree appointing Mossadeq sometime today.

The senate meanwhile prepared to meet tonight to complete the action on the bill ordering the government to take over immediately the $800,000,000 British-owned Anglo-Iranian oil company, the country's only developed oil enterprise.

Senate approval of the legislation, unanimously voted by the lower house (Majlis) Saturday night, was a foregone conclusion.

Western observers, and many Iranian political leaders, viewed the aging premier-designate as a visionary without concrete plans for the operation of the oil company, backbone of the country's tottering economy.

They feared that a sudden, unprepared-for take over might lead to production of a trickle and not a flood of oil, which would open the way for vigorous communist interference both from within Iran and from Soviet Russia across the northern border.

But with parliament seized by violence which began with the assassination last month of Premier Gen. Ali Razm-e-Ar, Mossadeq's Nationalists continue to sweep all before them.

Though the national bloc holds only seven of the 130 seats in the majlis, both parliamentary houses in secret weekend session endorsed the nationalization leader to succeed Premier Hussein Ali, who resigned Friday rather than carry out an oil nationalization act he believed was devised too hastily.

Toyho, April 30 — (AP) — artillery laid an explosive mine of the before Seoul today in path of a gathering Red army tent on seizing the old Korean capital as a May day.

United Nations forces, before the war-shattered city, 45,700 rounds of artillery.

The booming echo of military artillery implemented the announcement of Lt. Gen. James Van Fleet, Allied ground commander that Seoul would be defended.

Chinese Communists poured down from the north for a mass battle. Airmen spotted 3,385 Red planes moving along the western front. Twenty thousand Communists reported gathered as shock troops for the assault.

Only probing attacks were reported in the early hours Monday.

On Sunday Van Fleet announced his bold decision to defend Seoul. He plans a defense north of the city not house to house street fighting.

General MacArthur and Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway had made attempt to hold the city against the Chinese offensive earlier in the year. They said it was of no military importance.

But Van Fleet said Seoul is prestige as Korea's historic capital. He described the Seoul area and the line of the Han river which flows south of the city as "vital and strategic."

U. N. forces, he said, have the opportunity to destroy the Communist army north of the Han.

AP General Executive Frank King reported after Van Fleet's press conference that United Nations forces will not be lured into unnecessary battle.

One of Van Fleet's corps commanders said the Chinese, who he said were "dependent on the U. S. Army."

General William H. Tunner, Ninth Corps commander, said: "We're in good shape with what we have, but could use more troops."

The Reds have plenty of reserves in their rearward defense line. The Red dragoon at Pyongyang reported Sunday night that Communist were only seven and a half miles from Seoul.

Heavily armed and reported to have been moved forward today. "Conquer" blue soldiers' magazines.

Artillery and warplanes threatened Seoul.

An American tank patrol, riding through the Red's night, of force numbered 11 miles north of Seoul to Ulsong.

House Group About Ready With Tax Hike

Washington, April 30. First indications of the depth, direction and impact of the 1934 tax increase program are due from the house ways and means committee this week.

After 12 full weeks of preliminary work, the committee is ready to start making decisions on specific proposals, starting at closed session today.

Before the start of the voting, there was fairly general agreement among committee members that the $10,000,000,000 one-hump increase asked by the administration is not in the cards, unless the international situation blackens suddenly.

Estimates of the probable boost ranged from $7,000,000,000 or more down to $5,000,000,000, with several of the members agreeing on $6,000,000,000 as a likely total.

The committee took no official notice of President Truman's cooperation.

peated insistence on a $10,000,000,000 tax hike as the minimum required to keep defense preparations on a pay-as-we-go basis. In his special message to congress Thursday on strengthening national economic controls, Mr. Truman called such a tax increase the "most important of all" steps needed to spread the cost of defense equitably and check inflation.

With ten months of the current has taken more than he should. IN excess of what has been spent, and revenue experts on the committee's staff estimate the surplus will be at least $3,500,000,000 when the new fiscal year begins July 1.

Although the ways and means members realize that the heavy spending drive is due to get underway in that h at of fiscal year in the calendar-year with surplus in prospect they are reluctant to take up beyond the amount actually needed to keep the government's books out of the red.

The treasury's tax proposal call for:

1. — an additional $3,000,000,000 from individual income taxpayers, by raising the rate in each tax bracket four percentage points.

2. — $3,000,000,000 more from corporations, by making the combined normal and surtax rate 55 per cent instead of the present 47 per cent.

3. $400,000,000 from changes in the capital gains tax, by raising the rate and lengthening the holding period.

4. $3,000,000,000 by additional and increased excise taxes.

DOROTHY DIX

Mother's Boy

Dear Miss Dix: In five years of marriage I have certainly been through the mill with my husband's family. Right from the beginning my husband's sisters and mother resented my marrying him. Every time I opened my mouth they put their foot in it, so to speak, until now I rarely carry on any sort of conversation with them without thinking over every sentence twice before saying it.

Some of their resentment is ridiculous. For instance, I can bake better pies and cakes than his mother or sisters, but do you think they will compliment me? No. The just eat it as if every mouthful choked them. Any diversity of opinion on my part on anything and they immediately say it is wrong because it is different from the way they think. They are the type of people who would feel sorry for my husband if I hadn't borne him any children, because I have four, they regard me as stupid, as if mine were the sole responsibility.

Wouldn't you think they would be glad their son is loved and respected? They do not stop to consider that maybe Sonny Boy isn't such a prize catch, and maybe he's lucky in having a patient Penelope to put up with him.

One More Problem

I could go on ad infinitum, but the general idea is that Mama's darling is just another problem child to a woman who has four little problems of her own. And any how, wasn't he supposed to be the big strong hulk for her to lean on? Instead of which not only is he leaning on her, but so is his whole family.

PENELOPE

Answer: The heart of the difficulty here is that you ARE a patient, forbearing wife, a conscientious mother, and a good housekeeper. If you could change overnight into a shrew whose children ran around in ragged clothes, and whose only cooking utensil was a can opener, the in-laws would be fully make the rounds of relatives and friends, telling all and sundry what a terrible wife dear son Harry had acquired.

Nothing pleases a possessive mother as to be able to run down her daughter-in-law and you, in your infinite wisdom, simply don't give her a chance to complain. You certainly have mastered the art of avoiding trouble with your mother-in-law; getting along with her or winning her approval is a job that only a saint could encompass, and even she might have difficulty.

Your wisest move, to my way of thinking, is your careful consideration of conversational material. One careless remark on your part could cause a lot of trouble, particularly if mama and dear sisters love to carry tales to Sonny Boy.

Unfortunately, problems of this kind do not offer much in the way of solution. Drastic means, of course, would help—such as packing up and moving a few hundred miles away but even that wouldn't necessarily offer permanent peace; the in-laws would just be likely to trail after you.

Standing up to them and having a real bang-up fight would also be effective, but you just don't sound like a girl who would enjoy a family battle. So grin and bear it. In the only advice I can pass on, in time they'll probably get weary of bawling you and you'll have some peace. At least you're learning what kind of mother in law not to be, so your children will be sure of a happy married life from that angle.

Dear Dorothy Dix: The man I engaged to marry a small salary, but we could be married and live comfortably on it. I also earn a good salary and the question is: Shall I continue to work and save my salary toward making a first payment on a home, or should I stop working and we just have each other in a rented home? I have always felt that a girl should not work after she was married.

PEGGY

ANSWER: Whether or not you give up work when you are married is a matter for you and your husband to decide. Unless the money is urgently needed I think there is a greater chance for happiness if the wife goes domestic after marriage. Don't make the mistake of sacrificing too much to the selfish of owning your own home. It is My beer and my eyes fell on a copy of an afternoon paper lying upon the bar.

The banner headline said a warrant for Star's arrest had been issued on a charge of tampering with state's evidence and procuring a verdict by fraud.

My picture also was in the paper, and the Fountain Parkway shooting was treated separately from the news about Star. I also noticed a small item about an attempted burglary at the office of the Prater company. The watchman had been knocked unconscious several minutes but apparently nothing was missing.

"I swung and caught him a good one in the eye," said the watchman, Mervyn M. Sprague, 61, "then he hit me with a blackjack." He said he could identify his attacker, although the light was bad.

I HAD a good laugh. I wondered if Star Williams really had used a blackjack. At least I knew where he had gotten his shiner.

"Who ya laughin' at, buddy?" The character, a newcomer, was on a bar stool a few feet away.

"The funny papers, pal. You mind?"

"Yeah, I mind!" The character moved drunkenly toward me. He was medium-sized, but hard-looking.

The cute barmaid said: "No trouble, mister. Go on back and sit down!"

"Nobody laughs at me! I'm gonna show this punk a lesson!" I saw that he wasn't just talking. I slipped off my stool just in time. The character almost caught me with his first one, for it came with a professional speed I hadn't counted on. I knew then it was no drunk pitching punches at me, and I knew I was in for something really serious. I heard a movement behind me and then I edged out, away from the bar grabbing my empty bottle as I did so. I was just in time.

I recognized at once the man who had come in back of me. It was the man who had driven the truck in Fountain Parkway and who had visited my apartment with Neabarra and company the night before.

It was a cheery, cool place, with a cute barmaid. I had just finished to take the tail off Carl Prater. It had paid dividends in showing that Prater lied about driving around after he saw me at the Bidault place after the LaGrange shooting, but Star said it was no longer necessary. Then Star gave me expense money for the trip to Valleyville.

As I started to go, I said: "This wild goose chase is your idea, not mine. If you never find out who killed Barney Bidault, don't blame me."

Star's brows lifted in some astonishment. "I've found out who killed old Barney, all right. Now hurry to Valleyville and maybe you'll be back in time for the arrest."

MR. BRAYTON and Mr. Esplin ran a funeral parlor in Valleyville. Mr. Brayton acted as if he were going to drop dead and Mr. Esplin was cool, but neither had ever heard of a La Jolla Club chorus girl named Frankie Martin.

Then I stopped at a florist shop and spent 20 bucks of my expense money for flowers for a character named Jeff Wingfield, who was lying in state at the parlor. I had Star Williams' name put on the card.

I drove 80 miles homeward without a beer, but I was enough. It was 5:30, and I'd made good time when I pulled off at a wayside bar. My coat was off by then, as well as my shoes. I pulled on the latter, but the coat was too much. As I reached down to tie my shoes I saw the 380 in its holster. As an afterthought I removed the gun and stuck it into my trouser pocket. It wouldn't go all the way in. I stood up out of the car. I transferred my wallet from my inside coat pocket to my hip pocket and went in for that long overdue beer.

Giants Proving to Be Most Disappointing

By JO EREICHLER. Associated Press Sports Writer. It no longer is a question of where the Giants will finish. Fan-ergerated fans now are asking—will they finish?

Thunderstruck by the club's 11th consecutive defeat—yes, the Giants lost again yesterday—New York, fandom is wondering what Leo Durocher is going to do next.

Just picture the Giants' plight today. The situation is almost unbelievable. This is the ballyhooed Giants' club a majority of experts picked on opening day to win the flag. Now, two weeks later, Durocher's "my kind of club" is wallowing deep in the basement in danger of dropping out of sight completely.

The end is not yet in sight. Already in the midst of the third worst losing streak in the club's history, the dispirited Giants must see the relentless Dodgers in Brooklyn again tonight.

The Brooks have won all five clashes between these arch inter-borough rivals. Two more losses would equal the Giants' longest streak. They dropped 13 straight in 1932 and 1944.

It was not until the sixth inning yesterday that the Dodgers broke up a 2-2 deadlock with a three-run uprising to pave the way for their 3-2 victory.

Larry Jansen, who started so well with that opening day shut-out win, was the loser. A bad case of "homeitis" proved his downfall. The first of Duke Snider's two homers put the Dodgers in front, 1-0, in the fourth. After the Giants had gone ahead, 2-1, no homer by Bobby Thomson, the Brooks drew even in the fifth and went ahead in the next round when Gil Hodges blasted his round tripper with Jackie Robinson aboard.

Snider's second solo blast came in the seventh of Dave Koslo, Erskine, although routed in the seventh, was credited with his first victory.

The victory put the Brooks into a three-way tie for first place with Boston and St. Louis. The Braves divided a doubleheader with Philadelphia. They won the opener, 1-0, although held to two hits by Jack Thompson. The Phils overcame a six-run first inning by Boston to win the second game, 10-9.

Pittsburgh climaxed an uphill battle, beating Cincinnati, 9-3, in the opener of a doubleheader that went 13 innings. The second game ended in a 1-1 ten-inning tie called because of the Pennsylvania curfew law. Doublet George Metchew won the opener in the 13th after Ralph Kiner's homer had tied the score at 9-9 in the ninth.

The lowly St. Louis Browns

Browns stunned the Cleveland Indians by keeping both ends of their doubleheader in St. Louis, 6-3 and 13-1, to drop the tribe into a first place tie with Washington. The Senators backed into their share of the lead, accepting a 4-0 licking by the Yankees in New York. Cleveland and Washington each has won seven and lost three. The third place Yankees have won eight and lost four.

Ed Lopat patched the shutout, his second in a row and his third victory without a defeat.

Boston's Red Sox tallied four runs in the 13th to outlast the Athletics 12-8, in the first game of a scheduled two bill in Philadelphia. The Sunday 5:45 p. m. EST curfew called a halt to hostilities after the Sox had grabbed a 5-0 inning lead in the second game.

Ted Williams' homer, his fourth of the season, climaxed the 13th inning rally.

Ken Holcombe pitched a five-hitter in the Chicago White Sox shut out the Tigers in Detroit, 4-0. Aaron Robinson collected three hits and Nelson Fox drove in two runs for the winners. Hal Newhouse was the loser.

U. S. Chamber Gets Plan for World Peace

Washington, April 30 — (AP) — An endorsement of direct negotiation with Russia for world peace was presented today for approval of the United States Chamber of Commerce.

The proposed policy statement, one of dozens to be voted on at the chamber's 39th annual meeting here called for a Soviet American effort to reach "truly effective solutions—not mere paper agreements."

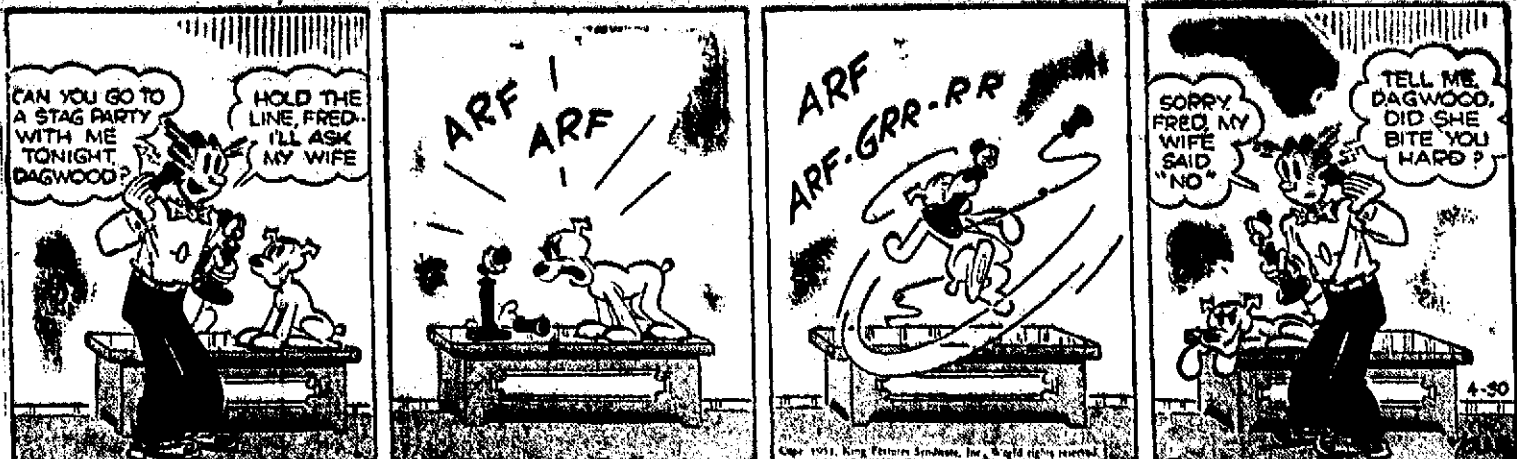

The United States must convince the world and especially its Allies of its sincere desire for peace and insist that the Soviet Union offer adequate proof that it has a similar desire," said the draft resolution.

Listed as speakers at today's opening session were Secretary of State Acheson and Senator Taft (Ohio) whose foreign policy views are usually in direct conflict.

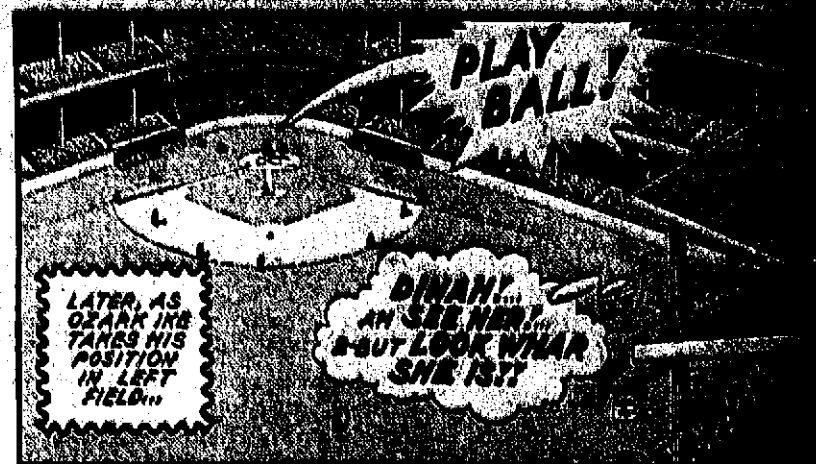

The resolution on Russia was
